Welcome to North Central College’s 2015-2016 Fine & Performing Arts Season

We are thrilled to present our new lineup of artists for our 2015-2016 Fine and Performing Arts season at North Central College. I’m certain many of you are also noticing the completely new look to our brochure. We’re always striving to bring you the best and most current events in the arts and our physical look is just as important. In these pages you’ll find a new, crisp, bold look to some of the greatest world-class artists in the industry. From artists we’ve wanted to bring you for a while to some new performers on our radar, we offer you our best season to date!

We are thrilled to present The Doobie Brothers on November 15 in Pfeiffer Hall. Tickets for this concert are sure to sell out quickly so please, do not wait! The same holds true for The Tenors on December 18, Rodney Atkins on May 14 and so many others in between. We’ll once again be presenting something for everyone in our great venues. The season opens with 4 Girls 4, the modern-day spin-off on the performance started by the legendary Rosemary Clooney, featuring four of Broadway’s finest ladies on the same stage! Any one of these four magnificent performers would be worth the price of admission, but you will see all four on the same stage!

This year would have marked the 100th birthday of Ol’ Blue Eyes himself, the great Frank Sinatra. So to celebrate that centennial, we are bringing you Sinatra Forever, direct from Las Vegas. Hear those great big band songs that provided the backdrop to one of the most famous voices in the industry with a man who sounds for all the world like Sinatra himself, Rick Michel. And, as you will see, the Chicago Jazz Orchestra is back by popular demand with Duke Ellington’s Concert of Sacred Music as our closer to the College’s annual celebration of Black History Month.

One of my favorite moments since the Wentz Concert Hall has opened was the ending of David Benoit’s performance with The Young Naperville Singers in the choral balcony. They had just finished a classic Christmas song when they all rang out back and enjoyed!

The 2015-2016 North Central College Fine & Performing Arts Season is shaping up to be exciting for everyone!

Thanks to our many contributors, world-renowned artists such as Yo-Yo Ma, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Vienna Boys Choir, Wynton Marsalis, Celtic Woman and many more have performed in our venues. But the cost of performance tickets only covers half our expenses to bring these great artists to the College’s stages. The generous support from the Friends of the Arts ensures the College can continue to bring world-class performers to our world-class venues.

Marina Kuchinski
AUGUST 14 - OCTOBER 11
“For Only”
“For Only” presented by sculptor Marina Kuchinski is a one-person exhibition that explores animality through our relationship with animals and, more broadly, our relationship with the “Other.” The desire to discover what is animal also leads to a greater understanding of what it means to be human.

Ed Herbeck and Yves Paquette
OCTOBER 16 - DECEMBER 6
“Land up High…”
“Paintings that explore distances and reveal light between the heavens and the earth.” - Ed Herbeck
“Works from L’hiver blue series are abstracted domestic forms that have been reformulated in composition and frozen by their glazed surfaces.” - Yves Paquette

Charlie Heinrich
DECEMBER 11 - JANUARY 31
Since Charlie Heinrich’s travels to the back roads of America, he has been “exploring two related themes for the last couple of years utilizing words (old discarded books and letters and ephemera to make faces), anthropomorphizing objects and literally reading faces.”

Monika Wulfers ’68
FEBRUARY 5 - MARCH 27
“Monika Wulfers LINES”
Monika Wulfers’ light drawings integrate the painterly concept of foreshortening into sculpture. Although each “light line” is of equal length, this is not what the viewer sees. Wulfers is a 1968 graduate of North Central College.

North Central College Art Department
APRIL 1 - MAY 29
Faculty Group Show

Michael Barton
JUNE 3 - JULY 24
“Ordinary”
Michael Barton’s body of work created for this collection is visual art that fuses his passion for woodworking, photography and obsession with ordinary objects. The materials he uses are storytelling elements that take the work beyond an image that is simply archived on a piece of cloth or fine paper.

Stella Zee
AUGUST 24 - OCTOBER 8
Stella Zee invites viewers to enter a light-infused, enveloping environment by miniaturizing themselves. The presence of the animals is significant, symbolic of how their instinctive power has healing qualities that nurture our spirits.

Robert Schwieger
OCTOBER 11 - DECEMBER 3
Screenprinting, silkscreening and serigraphy are all variations on a stencil process that enjoys a healthy history and provides printmakers with an exciting avenue to the creative process. It illustrates the flexibility of the medium by providing artists like Robert Schwieger with methods to imprint various substrates, including paper and glass, both two and three dimensionally.

Ian Wallace
DECEMBER 6 - JANUARY 28
Whether it is a conceptual idea, word or beautiful subject, Ian Wallace transfers what images take over his attention into painting. They will stimulate and inspire you to take action. Wallace wants the viewer to leave with heightened sensations of the people around them: ambient, assenting and awoken.

Madai Taylor
JANUARY 31 - MARCH 17
Madai Taylor’s work addresses themes of disintegration, regeneration and reproduction through an emphasis on organic materials and natural forms, using earth.
