Happy Birthday... to us! This year marks the 10th anniversary of the magnificent Wentz Concert Hall and Fine Arts Center. During its first 10 years, the Wentz Concert Hall and Fine Arts Center has served as the cornerstone venue for the College's spectacular fine and performing arts seasons.

Join me in reminiscing on the many nationally and internationally acclaimed artists who have brought their talents to Naperville and North Central College.

We have hosted three performances by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the first of which was the grand opening of the hall. We presented the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, Yo-Yo Ma, Elizabeth Futral, the Berlin Philharmonic Piano Quartet and the Russian National Orchestra. The DuPage Symphony Orchestra and Chicago Sinfonietta call us home. We have seen jazz greats, such as the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis, Branford Marsalis, Herbie Hancock, Chick Corea, Ramsey Lewis and Regina Carter. Kenny Wayne Shepherd, Jonny Lang and Richie Kotzen have all filled the hall with their music, as well as Ana Popovic and most recently, the Hypnotic Brass Ensemble. Richard Marx and Jim Brickman dazzled the crowds with their piano skills while David Benoit returned many of us to our childhood memories with his “Tribute to Charlie Brown.” We have witnessed the amazing versatility of the Wentz Concert Hall through Black Violin, Amy Grant, Bernadette Peters, Jo Dee Messina, the Canadian Brass, Manhattan Transfer, The Harlem Gospel Choir and Jim Peterik and World Stage. The Madden Theatre has been filled with faculty jazz concerts and Sunday evening cabaret performances, when the staff converts the theatre into a Chicago supper club.

I tell our Friends of the Arts that they are helping change the face of Naperville forever with their donations to the arts. These performances are proof that the Wentz Concert Hall and Fine Arts Center has left an indelible mark on the College and this town. This legacy would not be possible without your support!

To help us celebrate, the 2018-2019 season is packed with both returning favorites and new faces—hand-selected to help us kick off the next 10 years. I hope you will agree that this birthday year will be another great year in the arts at North Central College. Thank you for being part of something wonderful and for supporting the arts. And now, on with the show!

630-637-SHOW (7469)
Anke Richert-Korioth
September 7 - November 4

Anke’s paintings are filled with rich and vibrant colors, varied depths and striking lines. Her abstract impressionistic paintings integrate the chaos, connection and close proximity absorbed from her travels around the world and her European roots. “In my paintings I consider the relationship between abstraction and representation, exploring a fusion of both elements. The content is at once organized and chaotic, digitized and organic. Bold colors meet delicate hues within a picture plane that refuses definite identification. “Anke’s work can be found in many private and corporate collections in the United States, Europe and China.

Century Walk Artists
November 9 - December 2

In 1996, Century Walk began as a public art initiative featuring murals, mosaics, reliefs, mobiles and sculptures throughout downtown Naperville. Century Walk has many significant pieces of art reflecting on over 100 years of Naperville’s history.

“Toy Box - Inspiration Through Play”
December 7 - February 3

Illinois is home to classic toys such as Radio Flyer, Lincoln Logs and TinkerToys. These, like all toys, serve as templates for the imagination for children at both social and cognitive levels of development. For adults, toys are vessels for memory that contain identity, activity and comfort. For many working artists today, a toy represents a creative opportunity to transform the object into an experience that transcends nostalgia and represents an act of discovery. The artwork featured in this exhibition comes directly from artists working across Illinois. The historic objects presented are highlights from the Illinois State Museum collections. Combined, they seek to merge the joyous occasion of imagination during play with the nurtured discipline of creating a work of art.

Amanda Meyer
“ESSENCE”
February 8 - March 24

This collection of images illustrates the visual storytelling techniques of conceptual photography. Each image is a doorway into a new world and visceral emotional experience. Everyone has their own story to tell and each character in these images is sharing their own part of the artist who created them. Art is a pathway... to self-discovery and healing; these images are a visual representation of that journey. Every particular image has its own message for each and every viewer, displayed in a surreal, enchanting, and sometimes even dark way.

Sergio Gomez
“PARALLEL STORIES”
March 29 - May 19

Sergio Gomez is a Chicago-based visual artist, curator and creative entrepreneur. Over the years, he has learned this big truth: don’t wait for an opportunity to change your current situation. Instead, convert each situation into an opportunity to move forward. The most successful artists capitalize on opportunities that did not exist before. They’re not waiting for money or opportunities to fall from the sky. They look for opportunities to grow and act on them!

David Gista
May 24 - July 14

Our bodies are wired so that the impressions we receive through the senses evoke emotional responses that in turn engender thoughts. Artists take that constant of the human condition and create arrangements of sense data through media that stimulate, intensify and concentrate subjective response: art is affect. David Gista is a painter who understands this truth, taking into account the entire dynamic of art as experience, from perception through emotion to reflection.

Illinois Watercolor Society
“SMALL WATERS”
July 19 - September 14

“Small Waters” is a juried national exhibition consisting of small scale watercolors. It will turn the spotlight on small gems of work by award-winning artists from across the country. This exhibition is organized by the Illinois Watercolor Society as part of its continuing mission to advance the education and caliber of watercolor art throughout Illinois.
Address:
Oesterle Library Gallery is open to the public and located at 320 E. School Street.

Nikkole Huss
“MAPPING EARTH”
August 26 - October 10
In the exhibition “Mapping Earth,” Nikkole Huss’ encaustic paintings investigate if it is possible to encounter the essence of locations only experienced on a screen. As part of this mission, she digitally traveled to various National Natural Landmarks across the United States using Google Earth. These sites contain outstanding biological and geological resources that should be preserved as part of America’s natural heritage for future generations. Huss’ landscapes, while inspired by authentic locations, explore an imaginative interpretation of their natural beauty.

Mariam Paré
October 14 - December 5
Paré is a visual artist, mouth painter, speaker and advocate for people with spinal cord injuries. Paré is a member of the Association of Mouth and Foot Painting Artists (MFPA) as well as the Associate Board at the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago (RIC), helping with events like Art In Motion to raise funds for RIC’s art therapy program. Paré’s artistic interests are constantly morphing as she likes to experiment with traditional oil painting and modern mixed media techniques. Paré’s paintings and other works have been exhibited internationally and are in numerous private collections.

Catherine Keebler, Pat Lagger and Michele Thrane

“ASEMIC WRITING: FOR YOUR INTERPRETATION”
December 9 - January 30

Catherine Keebler, Pat Lagger and Michele Thrane each practice a form of “asemic writing” in their art. Their work features invented forms that invite the viewer to see seeming-symbols that evoke real letters, real musical notation and real scientific equations. Asemic writing is, thus, a kind of made-up calligraphy. Each artist has a unique style and way of creating these gestural abstractions that remind the viewer of words, musical notes and scientific symbols.

Nolan W. McCants
February 3 - April 3

Nolan W. McCants is an award-winning fine art photographer who has immersed himself in the diverse cultures of the world, from Africa and Asia to Europe and South America. His inquisitive nature and insatiable desire to touch and be touched by ethnicity and customs motivates his inspiring photography. His images stir imagination and emotion while revealing many rich cultural treasures. His gifted “eye for the exceptional in the ordinary” records the uniqueness of life, ushering beholders into the intimacy of the moment. Nolan is known to capture elusive details and candid moments all with a fresh eye for color, texture, perspective and depth.
